SOCIETY

The White House bids fair to be a lonely and quiet place for a few days this week, possibly all the week, as Mrs. Taft's sister, Mrs. Anderson, and Charles Taft, who is having a spring holiday from school, will all go over to New York some time today for a visit. As the President left for Boston last evening, there will be a distinct lull about the Executive Mansion.

The President and Mrs. Taft will occupy a box at the society circus that will be given for the benefit of the Washington Diet Kitchen at the Riding Club on April 25, in the evening, with a matinee on the afternoon of the 27th, the original date having been changed from the 26th. Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins, in the absence of Miss Gwynn, president of the Diet Kitchen, is acting as chairman of the entertainment committee, having as her assistants Mrs. Christian Haug, Mrs. W. Murray Crane, Mrs. John F. Wilkins, and Miss Edith Wetmore in the arrangements for the circus. There is also a gentlemen's committee, of which Mr. William C. Marrow is the chairman, and he is assisted by Mr. E. A. Mitchell, Mr. Henri de Ribour, Mr. John F. Wilkins, Mr. J. William Henry, and Mr. L. L. Taylor. Many diplomats and other prominent members of society have consented to take part in the performance. Boxes have been sold to Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Haug, Mrs. Edward B. McLean, Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Robert Wilkins, Mrs. Charles Shepherd, Mrs. Rayburn, Mrs. Arnold Hague, Miss Sarah Lee, Mrs. W. Murray Crane, Mrs. Albert Cushman, Mrs. Robert Patterson, and Mrs. Ralph Cross Johnson.

Special features, in which all the performers are to be amateurs, will be a grand parade, headed by an elephant and in costume, tight-rope walking, bareback riding, a prize-fight, &c. Amateur police, amateur clowns, and, in fact, every detail of the usual circus except it will be under a roof instead of canvas, is now being planned.

Postmaster General Hitchcock left last night for Augusta, Me., to attend the funeral of former Gov. John F. Hill.

Sinclair Bowen, Maj. W. J. Judson, U. S. A.; and Mrs. Joselyn Legation. Mr. Maurus, of the French Embassy; Samuel Ellet, Regional Hudekoper, and Lieut. von Herwarth.

ATHEIST A LOSER IN POLITICAL GAME

Rev. Dr. Radcliffe Says Principles of Christianity Are Necessary to Achieve Success.

In his sermon on "An Ideal Politician" at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church last night, Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe emphasized the fact that, no matter of what political persuasion any politician may be, he has not achieved political success because he wrote on his banner that he was an atheist; that he did not believe in Christ or the church, but because he at least subscribed to the principles of Christianity as taught by Christian churches.

The speaker took occasion for the subject of his sermon, holding him aloft as an ideal politician, being able, strong, loyal, and human. "We are rather resentful against perfect men," said Dr. Radcliffe. "He seems beyond our own nature and is a reproach to us. Even in the best of men an element of weakness reveals their human nature and brings them, therefore, nearer to us. We love Peter, the apostle, for his faults. He is the most popular of all the disciples. He was impulsive, passionate, outspoken. He was neither a loving nor a lovable man, neither was he as learned as some of the others, but he was a man full of human traits." Speaking of politicians, Dr. Radcliffe said that there is not a politician to-day who seeks the good will and the votes of the people who does not re-echo the words of Christ. "The politicians recognize the rights of men and the duty of the government to man. No man in America who appeals for votes is an outspoken atheist. Let him unfurl his banner and write on it, 'No God, no Christ, no church,' and see how many votes he will get. A few years ago it was announced in some statistical paper that every member of our national legislature with the exception of possibly one or two professed Christianity." In closing his sermon, Dr. Radcliffe said he believed in a representative government and not in a government by the mob; in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, because they are Christian principles and make for the strengthening of a good citizenship.

LORILLARD RITES IN CAPITAL TO-DAY

Body of Woman Who Committed Suicide in New York Will Be Buried Here.

The body of Mrs. Kathleen L. Lorillard, wife of Beekman Lorillard, who committed suicide by hanging herself in a New York hotel Saturday afternoon, will arrive in Washington to-day, and be taken to the Oak Hill Cemetery, Georgetown, for burial. Her husband and his brother, Louis Lorillard, will accompany the body to Washington.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon in the chapel at the cemetery, with only the immediate members of the family present. Rev. Dr. William Snyder will officiate. Interment will be in the Beater plot, and will be strictly private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Capt. T. M. Potts, U. S. N., a brother-in-law of Mrs. Doyle, who is the only male relative now in Washington. Mrs. Doyle, it is believed, will be unable to attend the funeral services. She is prostrated with grief, and denied herself to callers yesterday.

Because of the tragedy of Saturday and the remembrance of the suicide of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., three years ago, the members of the Lorillard family are extraordinarily depressed at this time. They are apparently trying to fathom the mysterious causes that made these two beautiful women desperate enough to take their own lives. Friends in Washington said yesterday they did not even suspect that Mrs. Beekman Lorillard ever contemplated suicide, and were amazed when they heard she had hanged herself. Word came from Asheville, N. C., the winter home of the Lorillards, that Mrs. Lorillard had been unhappy for some time. She never complained that Mr. Lorillard was neglecting her, but when they both were last in Asheville he had a room at a club and did not stay with his wife at her mother's home.

There are also said to have been occasional domestic disturbances, but these were not considered vital. Because of her illness—Mrs. Lorillard being a sufferer from neurasthenia—it is possible, her friends say, that she magnified her troubles.

Mrs. Lorillard before her marriage was Miss Kathleen L. Doyle, daughter of a Washington banker, and was prominent in society circles here. Her mother, Mrs. S. S. Doyle, occupies apartments in the Graton Hotel, De Sales place and Confrontment avenue northwest. It was at the request of Mrs. Doyle that her daughter's body was brought to this city for burial.

SAYS MAN IS A SYMBOL.
Dr. A. J. Cory Gives Lecture Before Theosophical Society.

"Symbolism" was the subject of a lecture before the Theosophical Society, at 302 I street yesterday, delivered by Dr. A. J. Cory.

"Man himself," said the lecturer, "is a symbol, his physical appearance indicating his character; names are symbols, as that of Solomon, which is the name of God in three languages."

The great profusion of characters in some alphabets, the Egyptian or Chinese, for example, is due to the fact that each character is a symbol furnished by an initiate of the ancient mysteries typifying his conception of some branch of knowledge."
